

TASK 4

~~My~~ My chosen project is space station: controls and communication where we will learn how to develop and validate the communication and control system by operating Rover over extensive distances. This itself makes it very interesting. I always wanted to know how rovers communicate over such vast distances and this project gives me an opportunity to learn about its technology. That's why I am very much excited!! I have a genuine interest in exploration of space station operations, how these things function in harsh environment conditions like high temperature, radiation etc. I am very much excited for this project.
